Nadim's painting

Nadim loves to draw and paint. He wants to become an artist when he grows up. He has a box of paints, coloring palette and loads of coloring pencils, crayons and brushes.

When he was a baby, his mother would give him a sheet of paper with a picture to color. He would scribble with his pencils and try to color it as neatly as he could.

But now, Nadim is big enough to draw by himself. He picks up a blank sheet of paper and begins to draw, whatever he feels like making. Sometimes, he draws a scene from the busy road or the sun setting over the mountains and sometimes he draws a vase of flowers on the table of his room.

After the drawing has been done, he carefully mixes his paints and colors the picture. He keeps the picture for drying and then hands it to his mother. His mother sticks the picture on the fridge and gives him a big smile and says, "Thank you Nadim, you have made a beautiful picture".
